DIRECTOR FINANCE & FRANCHISE

Faisal Farid Piracha

To compete with the ever-changing world and its technological advancements, for the first time in Pakistan, Mazen Schools offers Total technology-based international standard education to its students.

My aim at Mazen was to uphold the education provided by elite schools but make it available to the common person in our country and doing so was not an easy task considering the huge expenses involved. However, with our Turkish-based infrastructure, smart board facilities, professional psychologists as in-house counselors, ethical leadership programs, and other unique features, I'm quite happy to have pioneered this in Pakistan.

We continue to go above and beyond what parents and kids expect from us at a reasonable and competitive cost structure.

Moreover, with Mazen schools' remarkable success across the country within a short span of time and the confidence of both students and parents in our network, I am delighted to introduce our distinguished franchise model based on equal partnership opportunity and inclusive of all these distinctive key features that we are known for; we will continue to provide international standard education by establishing Mazen campuses in every city of Pakistan.

Our aim at Mazen will always to safeguard the best interests of our potential leaders.

TURKISH EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Fatih Aksoy

“I am very much certain, by giving Turkish outlook into the quality of education at Mazen Schools that the purpose of education by no means is for examination only. I am committed to deliver education that produces good, adjustable, and compatible citizens in the society. My aim is not to produce every student as a doctor or engineer; instead I am looking at the competencies Mazen Schools can develop in every child of the school, making them compatible with the international & Turkish standards. I really look forward to produce contented, trained professionals in all walks of life. Mazen Schools aim at transforming each student into a competent and dynamic professional.”
